

Dales Archaeology Day 2017

Saturday 8th April
Barbon Village Hall
10:00 - 16:00

The Yorkshire Dales National Park has some of the most iconic and best preserved historic landscapes in the country.

#DalesAD2017

Come along to our 2017 day school to discover and discuss the results of recent research into the built and archaeological heritage of the National Park.

YORKSHIRE DALES
National Park Authority

NATIONAL PARKS
Britain's breathing spaces

Outline Programme

The 2017 day school will be based at Barbon Village Hall, (LA6 2NN). As with previous day schools, there will be book stalls and poster displays and refreshments. The days talks will include:

Excavations at Hags Brow Cave: Tom Lord

Every Barn Tells a Story: Karen Griffiths (Yorkshire Dales NPA)

Excavations at the Malham Chapel: Mark Roberts (University College London)

"There are no known Anglo-Saxon sites in the North West": an alternative view. David Johnson

The NAIS survey in Lunesdale: Matthew Oakey (Historic England)

Brockholes, a Romano-British site in the Lune Valley: Graham Hooley and Jan Hicks (Lunesdale Archaeology Society).

HOW TO BOOK

The day school fee is £15 (£12.50 for full-time students/full Yorkshire Archaeological Society members) and includes refreshments but not lunch.

Online debit/credit card bookings are available at:

<https://retail.yorkshiredales.org.uk/products/archaeology-day-school-2017>

Alternatively please call 01969 652353 and we can process your credit/debit card details over the phone.

We can be reached via email at herinfo@yorkshiredales.org.uk